Standing in the Need of Prayer

with

Allison Randall

tuition: $30*

What needs can prayer fill in our spiritual life as Quakers? How does it fit into a 'listening' faith? Together we will explore prayer as making connection with the Divine, enriching and enlivening our spiritual practice. This workshop is for those of us who find our current definition of prayer too narrow and want to explore a more expansive understanding of it, as well as those of us who want to refresh, ignite or deepen our prayer life. Allison will talk about prayer and spiritual practice, and we will use discussion, writing and perhaps some worship sharing to explore prayer for ourselves.

Allison Randall, a member of Keene Meeting, has participated in an active prayer life for many decades, sometimes with the help of a spiritual Director, spiritual Friend or an Elder, Allison has led workshops and retreats for many years with worship and prayer themes – connection with The Divine Presence – including workshops on Prayer and on Spiritual Practice at New England Yearly Meeting . She has heard from many people about their prayer lives, watched the development of and changes in her own prayer life and read about this subject.
